Mission Statement

The Columbia Congregational United Church of Christ as part of the United Church of Christ and the worldwide Christian Church is called by God to be disciples of Jesus, the Christ. Therefore, the mission of the Columbia Congregational United Church of Christ is to worship God and to preach and teach the Gospel of Christ: to promote Christian fellowship among our members and friends, and to live in Christian fellowship with the Church Universal and the whole creation; that we might live faithfully, serving God and humanity, and striving for righteousness, justice, and peace.

FROM THE PASTOR'S PORCH

There have been signs over the past couple of years, but I have chosen to ignore them, or, if acknowledging them, have put off taking much definitive action. "I can't today." "I'll look into it on my day off." A couple of times I looked into what I might do, but never followed through. Then something in November pushed me forward.

I am not sure what, exactly, was the last straw, maybe my brother-in-law's heart attack, although I didn't see the connection at the time. On one of those days off, I finally went and signed up to be a member of a gym, lined up a morning of introduction to the equipment, and signed on with a trainer, at my daughter's urging. Among a number of reasons for taking this action is the realization that a primary problem for many clergy is lack of physical wellness, including obesity, although it is hardly limited to this profession/calling. In seminary, self-care was stressed by professors who were experienced clergy.

I have returned to my long held belief that God created me - and each of us - to live life fully. Our bodies, then, are holy. What we do or don't do, we do to God's creation. Unless we take care of our bodies, we will not be able to live as fully as God desires. The old adage rings true: "use it or lose it." While age and illness can take a toll, limit us well beyond our liking, we do need to do what we can to take good care of ourselves physically as well as spiritually. No one else can do that for us.

The more I have thought about this, the more I see a correlation with caring for the house of God, our place for worshipping God, the physical church. As each of us is a part of the Body of Christ, each part must be kept strong and healthy, as best we are able. We also need to take care of the Church, our particular church being part of the greater church. To provide a structure in which to worship, the windows and doors, the furnace and the electrics, the phone and the internet, the bathrooms and the elevator, the musical instruments and the staff and committees must be kept working well to serve the needs of the people who serve God and the world. The community of worshippers needs to be nourished, exercised, and cared for both physically and spiritually.

So, you see, my New Years resolution began a couple of months early, the non-conformist in me. I hope you will support me in my efforts. I also hope you will let me know how I can support you. Together we can support each other, forming a stronger church body. We can also dedicate time and money to supporting the functioning of this church. (No, this is not an early start to our stewardship drive. Stewardship is all year long, actually.) We can all be stronger, physically and spiritually, as we live as the Body of Christ in 2014.

May God bring you all blessings, peace, and spiritual and physical fitness in the New Year.

Faithfully your,

Pastor Betsey

~CHRISTIAN EDUCATION~

We rejoice in the beauty of the Lord. Let us all celebrate the wonders of His Love.

The beauty of a child is immeasurable and we celebrate the children of our Church for their beauty. They reached out and showed how special they are with their gift of the Christmas pageant. We celebrate their singing and chiming and the smiles they put on our faces their presentation of "Just a Little Christmas" was awesome and everyone left feeling joy in their hearts. This is a true gift.

Let us not forget to thank those who helped make the pageant so wonderful. Lynn Sharpe our director, Nancy Douton our chime director, Terry Tangarone and Wendy McDonald for their assistance in directing, Andrea Stone costume coordinator, Wendy Tomlinson for her assistance with costume, Anne Robinson for her assistance with rehearsals and to our confirmand's, Chloe Weston and Sydney Lambert, who helped by being part of the pageant. Also we thank the parents for their help with costumes and assuring the children made it to rehearsals and to the Board of Christian Education for the wonderful and delicious luncheon during Coffee Hour. Rejoice!

Blessings to all for a happy and healthy new year!

Jean

ELEVATOR REPLACEMENT FUND STATUS

As of the end of December 2013 we have received donations of $10,352 towards the total of approximately $19,000 needed for the elevator replacement. This is an unbudgeted expense which, due to safety concerns, was approved by Church Council and ratified by the church membership. We need everyone's help in covering this expense. A basket will be on the piano on Sunday's to accept all donations. Checks made out to the church should include "elevator fund" on the memo line.

REFLECTION ON STEWARDSHIP

The After-Tax Blessing

Excerpt from 2 Corinthians 8:1-7

"For, as I can testify, they voluntarily gave according to their means, and even beyond their means..."

Reflection by Lillian Daniel

Early in my working life, I met with a financial planner. It seemed absurd since we were deeply in debt. We had nothing to save, let alone invest. But a wise friend had said this was just the time for such advice.

He reviewed our budget. We had been making progress with our credit card debt but there was more to shovel out from under. We had also recently become tithers, giving ten percent of our income to the church. The two felt connected in my mind. We had made progress on the debt while growing in generosity. But I was embarrassed to tell that to a financial planner. I knew he was going to tell us to give less away, and to pay off the debt as soon as possible.

So when we got to the subject of charitable giving, I told him we were tithers. "Tithers, huh?" he said. "Is that ten percent of after-tax income or pre-tax income?"

"After tax, of course," I said. After all, we were tithers, not fanatics.

"After a long awkward pause, I asked, "So what do you think of that?"

"It's fine," he said, "if all you want is an after-tax blessing!"

Then he laughed heartily and joyfully. Turns out, he was a member of a UCC church himself. His philosophy of financial planning had extreme generosity at its core. God had clearly sent a prophet our way, and he had issued us a challenge.

Prayer

Generous God, please take my worries about money and put them on your shoulders, so that I do not carry them alone. Grant me a generous spirit, and the means to give beyond my means. Amen.

The Advent Workshop was fun, wasn't it? Well there are some things we will need for next year:

Birch or other smooth-barked logs 4 to 6 inches in diameter. We need 5 to 8 feet all told. These will be cut into slices for more Advent wreaths.

Christmas decorations you no longer need...plastic greens, small ornaments, things that can be taken apart to decorate the advent wreaths and other Christmas crafts.

Please contact a member of the Board of Christian Ed or Jackie Kittle if you can help.

Church Fair needs:

We are still collecting those white plastic tags that hold bread or roll wrappers together. We didn't get quite enough last year.

Crayons...old and/or broken, anyhow....unwanted crayons.

Altoid tins.

Those little rounded Y shaped clips that keep pump bottles from squirting lotion or hand soap all over your grocery sacks on the way home. You remove them to use the lotion and never know what to do with them afterward.

We will be happy to sell these things back to you at next year's fair when we are done with them.
